Blind Horses and three legged Dogs

In 2000 Rolling Dog Ranch and Animal Sanctuary was formed in Montana by Steve Smith and Alayne Marker. Their dream was to provide a home for animals with disabilities.

After 10 successful years they moved their operation to Lancaster, New Hampshire and changed the name to Rolling Dog Farm.

Residents have included blind horses, blind dogs and cats, deaf dogs, 3 legged dogs and cats, dogs and cats with many other types of health disabilities. Now they are focusing on mostly handicapped dogs and have one blind horse. These animals are the most likely to be euthanized in a traditional shelter. On the farm, they live in the home as part of the family...kennel free. The horse is in the barn of course.
